101ST FBFI ANNUAL FELLOWSHIP

Alone. All alone. That's what Elijah thought. He wasn't right, of course. God would later inform him that there were thousands who hadn't capitulated. But Elijah evidently wasn't aware of that at the time of the confrontation on Carmel. But what if he'd been right?

Suppose it's true; that you stand and minister all alone, or nearly so. What to do?

In the teeth of the culture, Elijah prayed boldly,

“LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word.”

(1 Kings 18:36)

Elijah claims a certain ministerial track record.
I have done all these things at thy word. And therein is the answer for today: Do faithfully, consistently, doggedly if you must, whatever you find in God's Word to be God's express will for ministerial life and ministry. Keep on doing it, even when you feel all alone.

But actually, you're not alone! At this year's national FBFI Conference, seven plenary session speakers will retrace seven elements of scriptural ministry. By God's grace they'll renew our confidence and reinspire our commitment to...

ALL THESE THINGS AT THY WORD

It may have been years since you were refreshed by the benefits of fellowship with kindred spirits in the ministry. Would you please give prayerful consideration to attending, and allowing the Lord to renew your confidence and to strengthen your commitments to an entirely scriptural ministry?

Thank you so very much for going to all the expense and effort of attending the FBFI annual meeting. Your fellowship has been richly coveted. Our church family greatly appreciates the opportunity to host you. We have prayed for you earnestly, trusting that the Lord might favor each of you with a generous measure of the happy effects of iron sharpening iron (Prov. 27:17).

Warm hearted saints keep each other warm, Spurgeon once observed. But cold, he said, is also contagious. This week affords the possibility of warming one another's devotion to God and to His Word. As is true of any such conference, there will never be another precisely the same in its unique combinations of individuals, peculiar needs, emphases of messages, and experiences of grace.

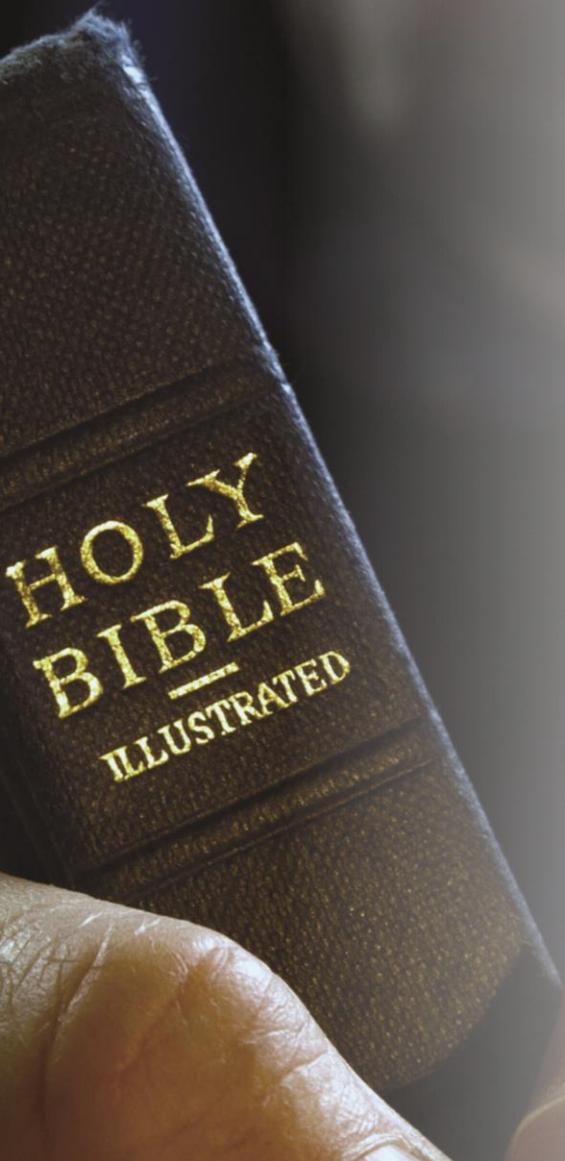

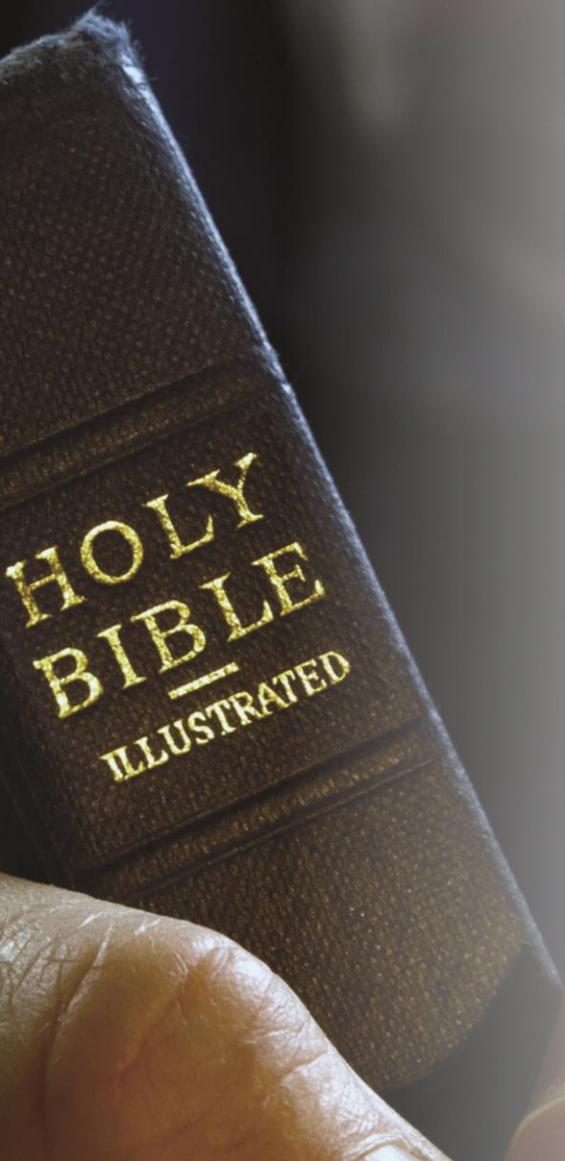

Warm appreciations after sermons, spiritually minded conversations between sessions and over meals, genuine interest in one another's ministries, sympathizing prayers with brothers and sisters in need—all of these can have their share in blessed ministry if we will be alert to opportunities.

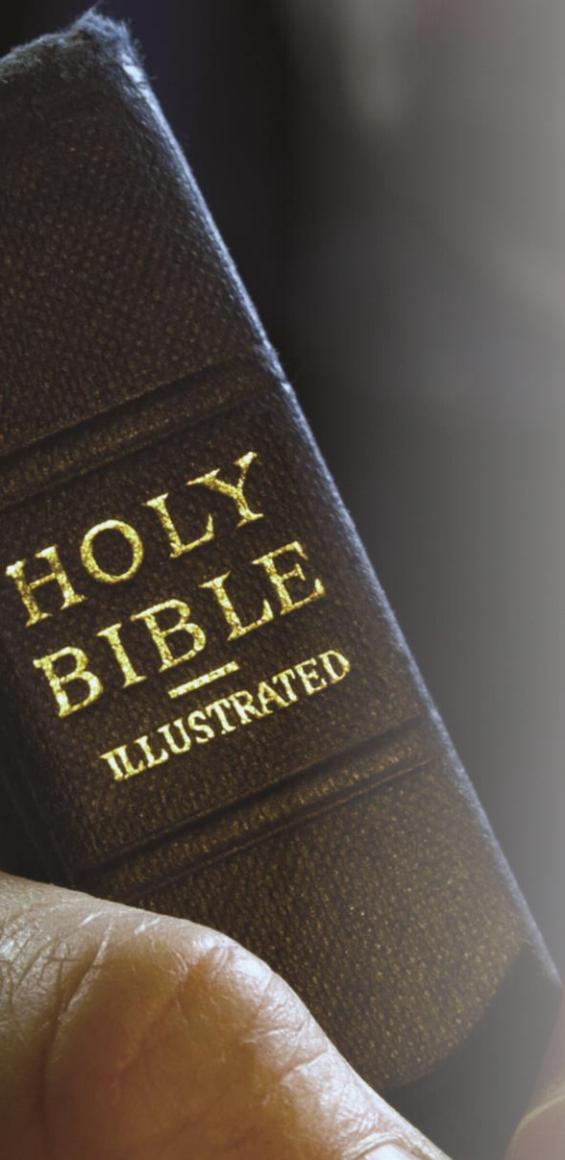

Long ago, in a day darker than even our own, those who feared the LORD spoke with one another. The LORD paid attention and heard them, and a book of remembrance was written before him of those who feared the LORD and esteemed his name (Malachi 3:16; ESV). Oh, that our fellowship this week be of such a character that the LORD might be pleased to write it in His book!

Fellowship between Christians is a gift of God. It is a true means of grace. Christians are spiritual people, and they feel comparatively isolated in this world. But God gives them this compensation, that the fellowship they enjoy with like-minded believers is marvelously therapeutic and sweet.

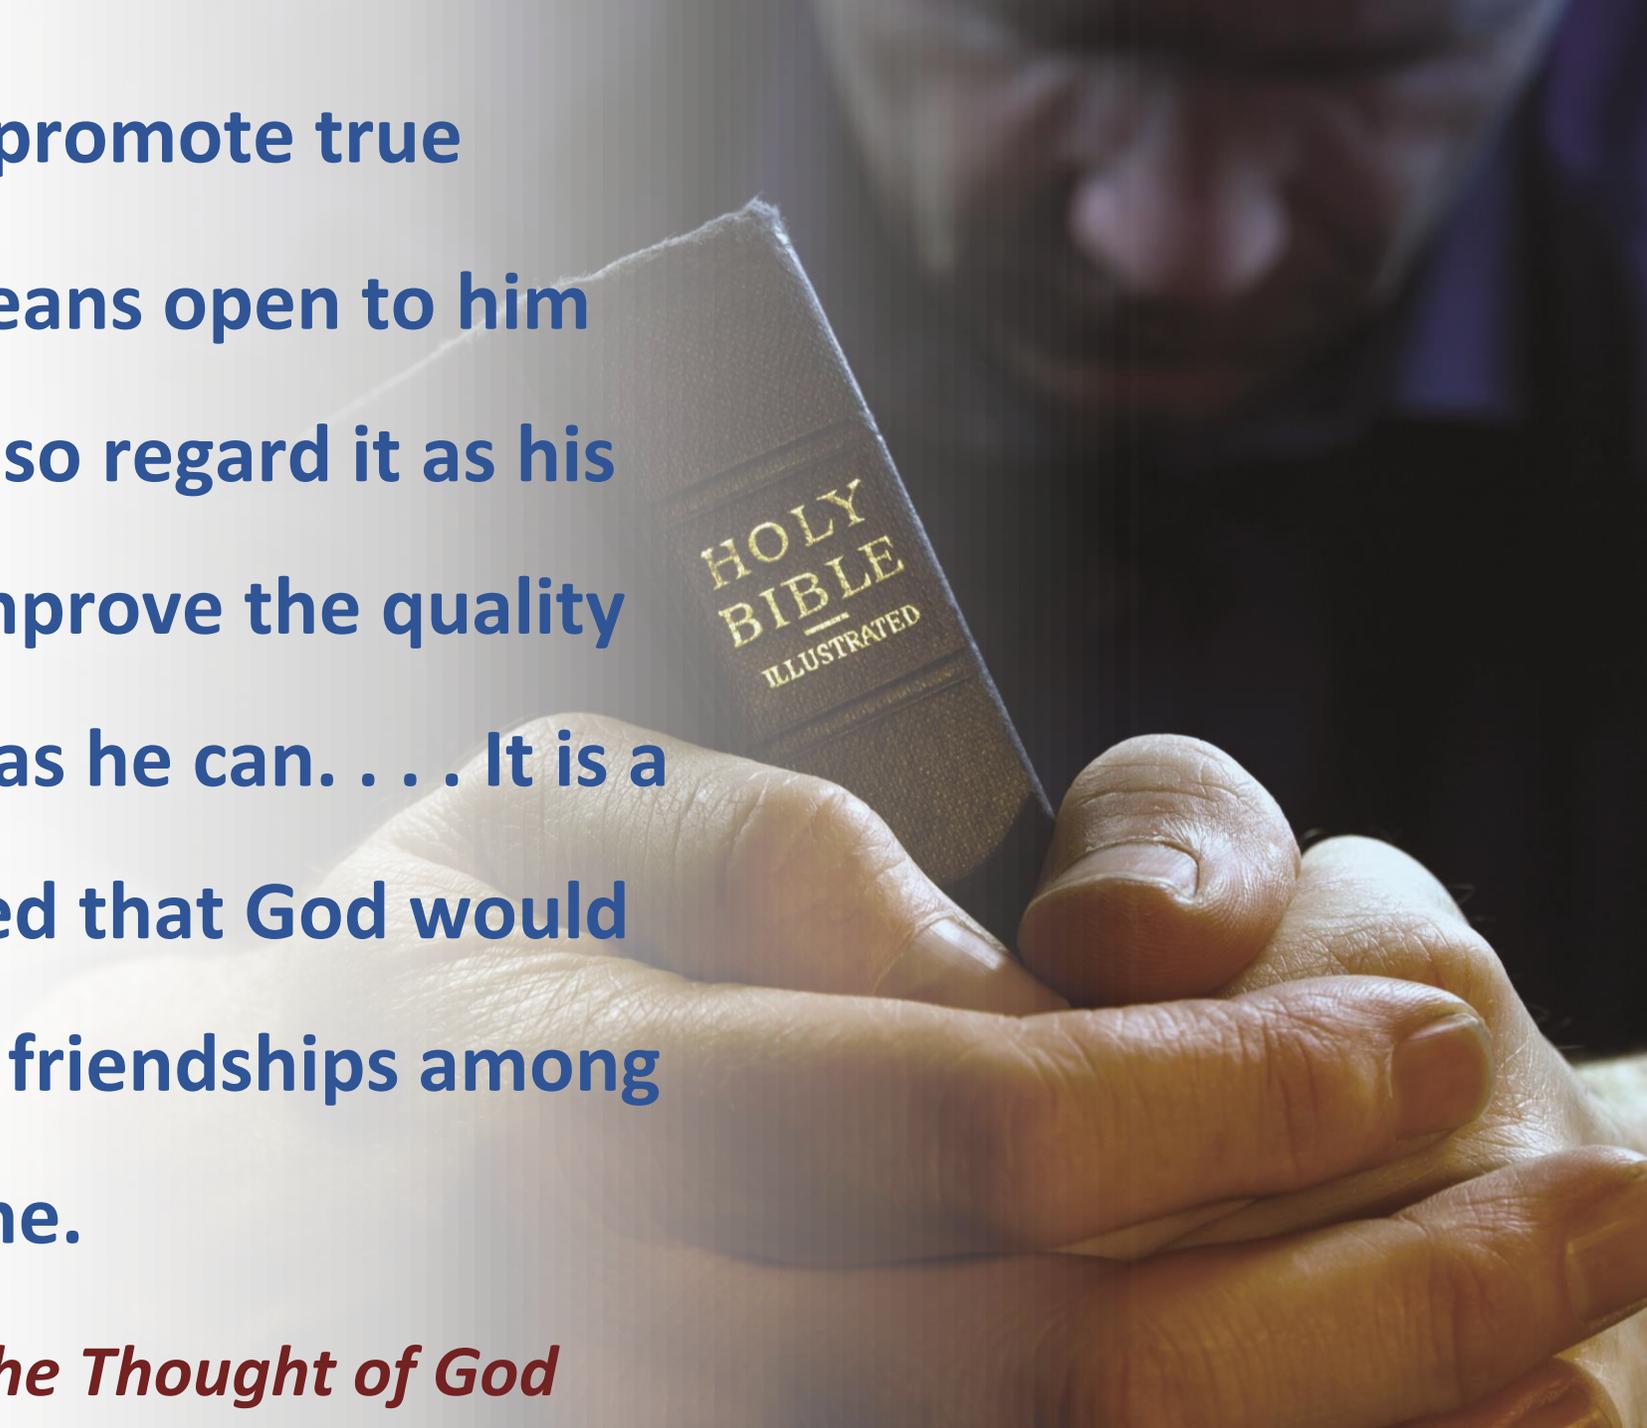

Fellowship exists between all believers because they have the principal things in common: the experience of saving grace, the enmity of the world, the expectation of coming glory, a thirst for God, grateful love to Christ and acceptance of Holy Scripture.

A believer's duty is to promote true fellowship by all the means open to him in this life. He should also regard it as his privilege and duty to improve the quality of his fellowship as far as he can. . . . It is a thing much to be desired that God would give us in this world. . . friendships among those who fear his Name.

IF THOU BUT SUFFER GOD TO GUIDE THEE

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet lorem ipsum dolor sit amet

If thou but suffer God to guide thee
And hope in Him through all thy ways,
He'll give thee strength, whate'er betide thee,
And bear thee through the evil days.
Who trusts in God's unchanging love
Builds on the Rock that naught can move.

Ecstasy and delight are essential to the believer's soul, and they promote sanctification. We are not meant to live without spiritual exhilaration, and the Christian who goes for a long time without the experience of heart-warming will soon find himself tempted to have his emotions satisfied from earthly things and not, as he ought, from the Spirit of God. . . .

When Christ ceases to fill the heart with satisfaction, our souls will go in search of other lovers.

Our Saviour is not content that we should merely have heaven or love or glory.

He wills that we should have him.
