CHRISTIAN READING HIS BOOK.

THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

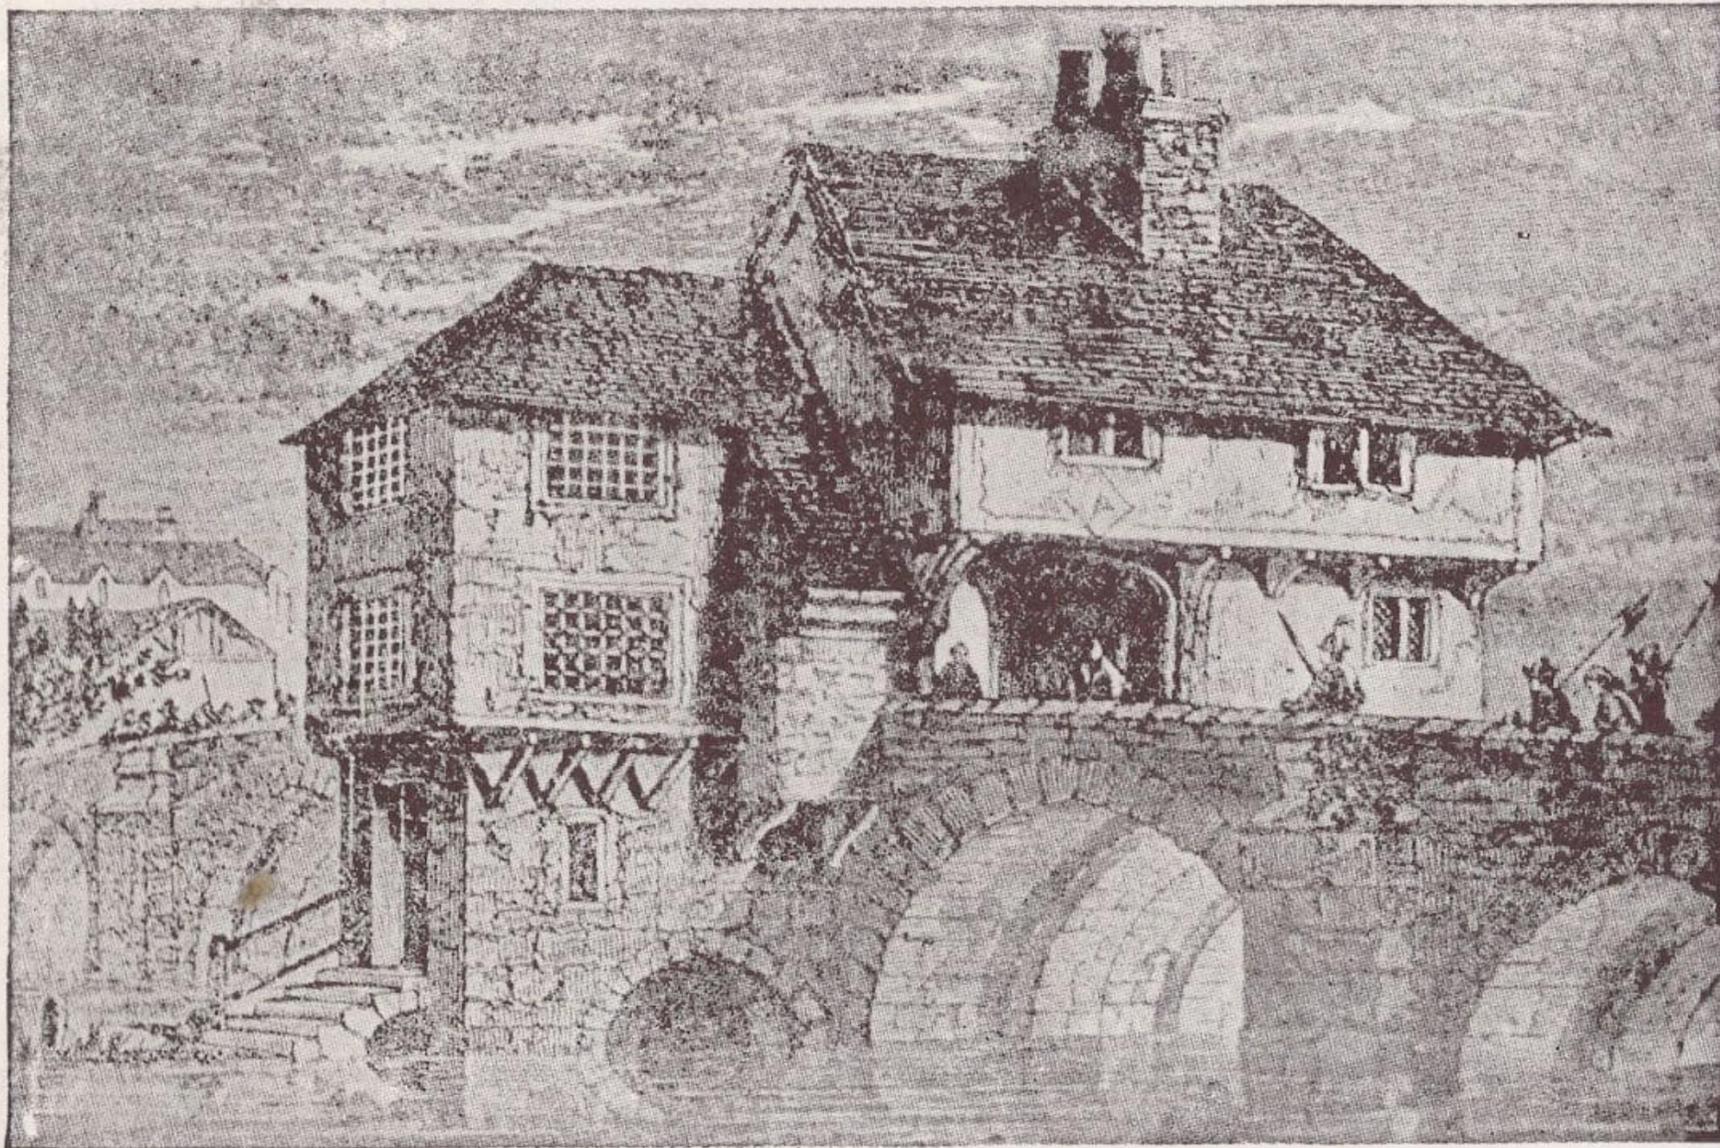

THE FIRST STAGE.

As I walked through the wilderness of this world, I lighted on a certain place where was a den,* and laid me down in that place to sleep; and as I slept, I dreamed a dream. I dreamed, and behold, I saw a man clothed with rags standing in a certain place, with his face from his own house, a book in his hand, and a great burden upon his back. (Isa. 64: 6; Luke 14: 33; Psalm 38: 4.) I looked and saw him open the book, and read therein; and as he read, he wept and trembled; and not being able longer to contain, he brake out with a lamentable cry, saying, "What shall I do?" (Acts 2: 37; 16: 30; Habak. 1: 2, 3.)

In this plight, therefore, he went home, and restrained himself as long as he could, that his wife and children should not perceive his distress; but he could not be silent long, because that his trouble increased. Wherefore at length he brake his mind to his wife and children; and thus he began to tell to them: "O, my dear wife," said he, "and you my children of my bowels, I, your dear friend, am myself undone by reason of a burden that is laid upon me; moreover, I am certainly informed that our city will be burnt with fire from heaven, a fearful overthrow, both mys

The parting with my Wife and poor Children hath oft been to me in this place as the pulling the flesh from my bones; and that not only because I am somewhat too fond of these great mercies, but also because I should have often brought to my mind the many hardships, miseries, and wants that my poor family was like to meet with, should I be taken from them, especially my poor blind Child, who lay nearer my heart than all I had besides.

CHRISTIAN SETTING OUT FROM THE CITY OF DESTRUCTION

This book it chalketh out before thine eyes
The man that seeks the everlasting prize;
It shews you whence he comes, whither he goes,
What he leaves undone; also what he does;
It also shews you how he runs, and runs
Till he unto the Gate of glory comes.

This The Prophets used much by Metaphors
To set forth Truth; yea, whoso considers
Christ, his Apostles too, shall plainly see,
That Truths to this day in such Mantles be.

Wouldest thou see a Truth within a Fable?
Art thou forgetful? Wouldest thou remember
From New-year's day to the last of December?
Then read my fancies, they will stick like Burs,
And may be to the Helpless, Comforters.

From New-year's day to the last of December?
Then read my fancies, they will stick like Burs,
And may be to the Helpless, Comforters.

Lay my Book, thy Head, and Heart together.

Read anything of his, and you will see that it is almost like reading the Bible itself. He had read it till his whole being was saturated with Scripture; and, though his writings are charmingly full of poetry, yet he cannot give us his Pilgrim's Progress – without continually making us feel and say, “Why, this man is a living Bible!”’ — C. THE PILGRIMS PROGRESS.

parted, at which they were not a little sorry, yet they durst not go out of the Way. Now the way from the River was rough, and their feet tender by reason of their travels. So the Soul of the Pilgrims were much discouraged, because of the way. Wherefore still as they went on, they wished for better Way. Now a little before them, there was on the Left Hand of the road a Meadow, and a Stile to go over into it, and that meadow is called By-Path-Meadow. Then said Christian to his fellow, If this meadow lieth along by our Wayside, let us go over into it. Then he went to the Stile to see, and behold a Path lay along by the Way on the other side of the fence. 'Tis according to my wish, said Christian, here is the easiest going; come, good Hopeful, and let us go over.

Strong Christians may lead weak ones out the way.

See what it is too suddenly to fall in with Strangers.

Hope. But how if this Path should lead us out of the Way?
Chr. That's not likely, said the other; look, doth it not go along by the Wayside? So Hopeful, being persuaded by his fellow, went after him over the Stile. When they were gone over, and were got into the Path, they found it very easy for their feet; and withal, they looking before them, espied a man walking as they did, (and his name was Vain Confidence), so they called after him, and asked him, whither that Way led? He said, to the Coelestial Gate: Look, said Christian, did not I tell you so? By this you may see we are right; so they followed, and he went before them. But behold, the Night came on, and it grew very dark; so that they that were behind lost the sight of him that went before.

PART THE FIRST.

He therefore that went before (Vain-Confidence by name), not seeing the way before him, fell into a deep Pit, which was on purpose there made by the Prince of those grounds, to catch vain-glorious fools withal, and was dashed in pieces with his fall.

Now Christian and his fellow heard him fall. So they called to know the matter, but there was none to answer, only they heard a groaning. Then said Hopeful, Where are we now? Then was his fellow silent, as mistrusting that he had led him out of the Way; and now it began to rain, and thunder and lighten in a very dreadful manner; and the water rose amain.

Then Hopeful groaned in himself, saying, Oh that I had kept on my Way!

Chr. Who could have thought that this Path should have led us out of the Way?

Hope. I was afraid on't at the very first, and therefore gave you that gentle caution. I would have spoke plainer, but that you are older than I.

Chr. Good brother, be not offended, I am sorry I have brought thee out of the way, and that I have put thee into such imminent Danger; pray, my brother, forgive me; I did not do it of an Evil Intent.

Hope. Be comforted, my brother, for I forgive thee; and believe too, that this shall be for our good.

Chr. I am glad I have with me a merciful brother: But we must not stand thus; let's try to go back again.

Hope. But, good brother, let me go before.

Chr. No, if you please, let me go first; that if
