Now the way from the river was rough, and their feet were tender by reason of their travels; so the souls of the pilgrims were much discouraged because of the way (Numbers 21:4).

Wherefore, still as they went on, they wished for a better way.

... on the left hand of the road a meadow, and a stile to go over into it, and that meadow is called By-path meadow.

Then for their encouragement they heard the voice of one saying, “Let thine heart be towards the highway; even the way that thou wentest, turn again” (Jeremiah 31:21).

He told them, that since they were never like to come out of that place, their only way would be forthwith, to make an end of themselves, either with knife, halter, or poison; “for why,” said he, “should you choose to live, seeing it is attended with so much bitterness.”
