The Art of Seducing a Woman

Understanding what a woman is looking for in a man is the first secret to seducing a woman. For many men, the concept of how to seduce a woman is simply a mystery. It is understandable, though. Men and women differ in so many ways that it is difficult for many of us to really grasp how to get inside the mind of the opposite sex.

The true key to seducing a woman is not a mere laundry list to check off, step by step. It is more a guidebook on the path you must follow to completely seduce a woman, mind, body and soul. And believe it or not, what really gets a woman going is much simpler than you may have ever imagined.

Understanding the differences between the sexes will help give you a better foundation on which to build your knowledge of women. Once you can get inside her mind, it is all downhill from there.

Communication is ultimately the most important aspect in seducing a woman. Like so many other aspects of our lives, effective communication is the key to success. You want to take the time to really get to know her and what she is looking for. This will benefit you greatly when it comes to pleasing her, so do not think that getting to know your woman is a pointless, grueling task of learning a bunch of useless information.

Patience when seducing your woman is equally important, too. Being in a hurry will only prove to damage any good you could have done by learning anything at all about your woman. When it comes to seducing a woman, take it slow. We want a man to take his time, not just rush in for the brass ring. A woman wants to know that you are not just playing her for sex. And the best way to prove yourself is to take your time.

All in all, women want to feel special. Being romantic makes women feel special. So if you want to seduce your woman you have to be romantic. It proves that you care, that you want to please her and that you know how to treat a woman right. Romance will take you a long way in seducing a woman.

How to be Sensitive with Women

If you are hoping to be successful in the world of seduction, you are going to have to know how to be sensitive. When a woman looks at a man, from her unique perspective, one of the key things she sees is how sensitive he is. It can truly be a pass or fail characteristic. If the lady in your life does not see a sensitive side, she is going to be put off. Personality counts for so much, especially if you are hoping to go further with a relationship.

To begin with, it is important to understand just what sensitivity is. Sensitivity, or being sensitive, is just one of those things that have gotten such a bad rap as to make them virtually taboos. But false impressions are to blame for that, and we can dismiss such misconceptions here so we can get on with the business of becoming more sensitive men. But what sensitivity really is, in truth, is responsiveness to things around you. It is a general sense of what is going on.

Unfortunately, you may be thinking you have already got it pegged. But do not think it is just a matter of self-awareness and a general idea of the world around you. The sensitivity women want in a man goes a bit further. Or, put more directly, women are looking for a specific kind of sensitivity in men.

Here is an example you are sure to remember from some movie you once saw: a young couple is walking along a street at night, and the temperature is dropping. Conveniently, she forgot to bring a coat, but he remembered to bring his. He notices her shivering, and quickly offers his coat to her, despite his own need for the coat.

Okay, that is a basic example. But what matters is that the guy was aware of his girlfriend's need, and he did something about it. Moreover, he made a sacrifice for her. This is a big deal. When a man can be more concerned about the welfare of someone else than himself, he has got a chance to impress the ladies.

Paying More Attention to Your Woman

Communication is such an important factor in all relationships, business and personal alike, that it should come as no surprise that we need to discuss it here as well. What is communication, after all? It is the two-way interaction that occurs, both verbally and non-verbally. What is said with actions is as important, if not more so, than what is said with words. But here we are going to focus our attention on the importance of verbal communication and what it will mean for your relationship. Keep in mind that when I talk about how things affect your relationship, I am mainly concerned with your success in the realm of seduction.

Communication with words is something we all do on a daily basis. But, just like when you are asked to give an impromptu speech, being asked to communicate in a particular situation just makes many of you cringe, lock up, and find yourself at a loss for words. Why? Mainly because when you have to think about what to say, you suddenly become concerned about what you are saying. But if you just let it happen without any expectations, somehow everything works out a whole lot better.

That being said, think of your past relationships and where communication failed you. Was it something you said in a particular conversation that you came to regret later? Or was it something she said that you either treated as unimportant or simply did not hear at all? Or could it have been a time when you should have said something to her, but did not, and the results were equally regrettable? Surely all of these have happened to nearly everyone at one time or another. The trick is to not let these past failures define how you communicate now and in the future of your current relationship.

Talking is something we all think about when we hear the word 'communication'. But, unfortunately, that first thought is the wrong one if you are looking for a good relationship with potential for romance. Talking will get you nowhere, and worse, it may cause things to fall backward or even to fall apart. When you talk, you are expecting someone else to listen.

But what about the listener? When does she get the chance to be heard? That is why it is so much better to change your view from one of simply talking, to one where you see communication as the carrying on of a conversation.

Nice Girls Do It, Too!

It is absolutely true that when online dating sites first started they were populated entirely by perverts, sexual predators, weirdoes, social misfits and emotional wrecks but that is no longer true. Online dating has gone mainstream and has lost all the social stigma it once suffered. Single people of all ages, races, religions and both sexes do it. Short people, tall people, thin people, obese people do it. People from every developed country in the world do it. Nice girls do it, too. The reasons people join online dating sites are as varied as the people who join, but mostly they join for three very good reasons: Time, Money and it Works.

1. Time

You can go through hundreds of online profiles and look at hundreds of pictures in the same length of time only one real world date takes and the screening is already done for you. You can tell right away if someone is only looking for casual relationships or long term commitments. How many times have you worked 8 hours, gone home and spent another hour getting ready to go out, then gone to the local hang-out for singles only to see the same old jerks, losers and drunks that are always there?

2. Money

For the price of one evening out in the town you can enjoy an entire month of meeting men from the safety of your own home....do it in your jammies or sweats and with a beauty facial working its magic.

3. It works

It really does work if you are willing to do the right things. Write a profile that grabs attention, post recent pictures of yourself, be fun and interesting while chatting with the men you meet online, answering emails promptly and being on time for a pre-arranged online meeting.

Dating Tip: Make Her Feel Good About Herself

Dating is the chance to know a person. Surely, men cannot resist the temptation of impressing their dates, especially if the one that they are dating is someone they want.

-Enough about me, I want to know more about you-

This is a simple line that can show your interest to your date. The sincerity of truly wanting to know your date makes this line much stronger and believable. In a date, you surely will look and hope for good things about the girl. Unfortunately, you will also see her imperfections. You should not expect your date to be perfect since this will ruin the entire date because she may not live up to your expectations. You have to let her know and feel that her not so good traits are just minor setbacks for you. Let her feel that no matter how the world would react about her not so good traits, you are not ashamed of being with her. Let her see and feel that you can get along with her. You can smile, laugh, and even do crazy, yet nice stuff with her if possible. Making her feel good about herself will help you earn her respect. This will surely mold you into someone unforgettable. You may even become a gentleman in her eyes. She will surely tell her friends about someone who makes her feel comfortable.

Making someone feel good about herself in a date is one honorable act that will provide you with a set of favorable events that can lead to love and romance in the long run.
